Fantastic FiDi

It's not all doom-and-gloom in the Financial District with "Fantastic Four" vixen Jessica Alba moving into the area, at least for the next several months. Sources tell us that the new yummy mummy is leasing a two-bedroom apartment at 20 Exchange Place, a rental building, while shooting the film "An Invisible Sign of My Own."

The former bank building also served as the main set location in 2006 for Spike Lee's "Inside Man."

The actress has already been spotted by neighbors in the lobby with husband Cash Warren and their 3-month-old baby girl, Honor Marie.

Alba says her daughter will be a regular on the set once shooting begins.

"I love my daughter, and she's going to be with me every day on the set," she reportedly said. "To be honest with you, it's tough - and if it was any other movie, I wouldn't be doing it."

Alba will play an obsessive-compulsive math teacher in the film based on Aimee Bender's novel "Invisible."
